

City Campaign Practically Comes to a Close Tonight

AVERAGE VOTER HAS MADE UP HIS MIND ON THE ISSUES

Speculation on the Result Gives Decided Lead to Mayor or Council and the Whole Democratic Ticket.

ONE REPUBLICAN HAS CHANCE TO WIN OUT

Veteran Prophets Say Tom Hughes has Show to Land the Clerkship. Meetings Tonight and Monday.

Both city campaign committees chairman admitted this morning that through advertisements, the new voters, outside of the city, in inquiry and visits by the candidates, practically every man in Albuquerque has made up his mind how and for whom he is going to vote in the city election Tuesday, and that with the meetings tonight the campaign practically comes to a close. The Democratic campaign is going to visit south Albuquerque tonight, with a band and later in the evening will pay a visit to the Highland section, taking the music with them. The Republicans held meetings last night in the four ward school buildings, with a fair attendance at all of the meetings. Judge H. A. Mann, T. N. Williams, J. A. Miller, Felix Davis, John W. Wilson, M. E. Hickey, A. B. Strong, John H. Burg, George S. Klock, George H. Craig, and John Venable made up an imposing battery of speakers who sallied forth to convince the voters. The meetings probably would have been more largely attended but for a free lecture by a well-known anti-socialist orator in the theater which drew a big crowd. The Republicans will hold a final meeting in the theater Monday night at which a closing plea to the voters will be made. The Democrats will hold a big bonfire celebration at the corner of Second and Central. Both meetings will be in the nature of encouragement meetings to the workers. It is admitted that so thoroughly have the issues been discussed in public and private that these closing meetings are not likely to change any votes.

In the opinion of veteran political judges the vote will be the heaviest ever cast in Albuquerque, and these prophets say that Mayor Sellers has a strong lead in every ward except the second, where they say he has a chance to win. It is the prediction that the mayor and the entire Democratic ticket will be elected, with the possible exception of the judge. It is pointed out that Tom Hughes, the Republican candidate, through long residence and intimate personal acquaintance, will use his strength with the laboring element, which is likely to have a big lead over the rest of the Republican ticket, although they question whether he will have lead enough to overcome the majority of the Sellers strength is expected to bring to all candidates on the Democratic ballot.

There has been some letting here and in Santa Fe on the Albuquerque result. In Santa Fe considerable offerings have been made at 3 to 1, with sellers on the heavy end, and to two to one have been offered here on the success of the mayor without taking, although a number of bets have been placed at other odds. The Republicans have made a strong campaign, having had better organization than ever before, and this it is said, leaves an element of uncertainty in the situation. The general opinion, however, is that Sellers will win the majority by a safe majority.

STRONG NIDORSEMENT OF SELLERS' WORK

Veteran Lawyer and pioneer Citizen Declares the Mayor Deserves Something Better Than Abuse for Service

In an interview given out last night, Neil B. Field, prominent lawyer and pioneer citizen of Albuquerque, exposes what he terms the misleading effort to make the water question a question of the election. Mr. Field declares that it is not only not an issue in this election, but that all statements to the effect that the mayor or city council of Albuquerque can bond the city or grant or extend a franchise without an affirmative vote of the people are a regularly called election, are false; showing that the law of the state fully protects the citizens against any action of the kind by the city government without direct authority of the electorate. Mr. Field says that the same time pays a high tribute to Mayor Sellers, who, he says, merits something better than abuse for his services to Albuquerque.

Replying to a direct question whether a not the city council could issue bonds for any purpose or grant or extend any franchise without first submitting it to a vote of the people, Mr. Field said: "They certainly cannot. The statement that the water question is the real issue before the people is utterly misleading in my opinion. The mayor and council cannot extend the franchise without the question is first submitted to a vote of the people. The city council can only submit it to a vote of the people at a regular election for councilmen. Consequently no proposition for bonds for the purchase of the water plant can be submitted before the election which takes place two years from now."

"I especially regret that Don Jesus Romero should feel called upon to take charge of the public affairs of Albuquerque at a moment when the city is in the midst of a campaign for the control of the county at large. He seems to forget that he holds his present political status more by the grace of the city of Albuquerque than by the grace of the people of Albuquerque, and that the people of the city of Albuquerque have been, in a large way, the basis of his strength as a progressive Republican."

"As to the control of the vice question, I can only say that personally I heartily endorse his efforts in that direction, except that I do not favor the extension of police power from the unfortunate women who are found there, and I should prefer that the city should forego any revenue which may be derived from that source. I believe Albuquerque to be the best policed city of its size in America, and I further believe that the safety of the youth of the community, man and woman, is better served by a thoroughly regulated segregated district than the members of the community most entitled to be considered in determining the course to be pursued toward this class of vice are young and inexperienced men and women, and that the danger to the young is much greater from dissemination rather than from segregation. I believe that one abandoned woman at large in a community without supervision can do more to corrupt young girls than ten abandoned girls, and this has been demonstrated by the fact that abandoned women are largely responsible for the downfall of their sisters."

"Under the segregated system the opportunity for corruption of youth is most limited, and this, I believe, is the consensus of opinion of all thoughtful people who have given careful study to the question. The segregation of this class of vice is a sentimental question. I have endeavored to inform myself by extensive reading of reports of committees appointed for the purpose of investigating the question in this country and abroad, and this is the

On Segregation

The Republican City Committee, Albuquerque, N. M.

Gentlemen: I have read with interest the article signed by Hon. John H. Burg and appearing in the Morning Journal. I have not presented this communication to the Journal, as they might not wish to print an antagonistic view of the subject.

Mr. Gleason's article is interesting principally for its indications. It reminds me of the scene frequently enacted of the pedestrian novice "showing" the operator how to start his automobile when it becomes stalled in the street. He begins by stating that he is not well posted on his subject, and then proceeds to prescribe a remedy for the trouble.

Anyone familiar with the conditions in the different cities of this country knows perfectly well that segregation does not segregate. Mr. Gleason corroborates this fact so far as it relates to Albuquerque. Then, if segregation is not successful for the purposes advanced, in what way is it useful?

This is the primary reason for the maintenance of segregated districts. Every business, whether legitimate or not, must have a reason for its existence. If it does not, it will be abandoned. Some have been advanced as to why people will engage in this trade. One is for the money they get out of it. And the other, they are driven to it by means of the so-called "slave traffic."

The segregated districts form the one hand of the law, whereby they may play their trade without fear of punishment. The other hand of the law is the one which affords headquarters or agencies with whom the traffickers in vice have "disappearing" money, and the confidence of the traffickers. As a result of this, the traffickers in vice have been able to maintain their position in the city, and the city has been able to maintain its position in the state.

True democracy does not favor the fostering nor protection of vice. There is no element which profits by this nefarious business. This element having control of the Democratic party organization in this city desires to continue this procedure for its own reasons. But you will find the rank and file of the party opposed to such lack of law enforcement.

conclusion which I have reached. Under the system which has prevailed under Mayor Sellers' administration, nobody has been under any necessity to see a prostitute in Albuquerque unless he looked for her, and the civil influence of prostitution has been well controlled, in my opinion, as it is possible to control it.

Mayor Sellers has done things. He has made Albuquerque a better place than it was before. He has made it a more attractive place. He has made it a more prosperous place. He has made it a more beautiful place. He has made it a more comfortable place. He has made it a more convenient place. He has made it a more pleasant place. He has made it a more interesting place.
